Also, what interests you in entrepreneurship that is very risky, takes so much effort with low chances for success, correct?

Expand on the identity of career, for you today; what does that look like?

My 5 year plan is to be successful career wise and as a person growth wise

Well I like to think in the moment but wherever it takes me what matters is what I do when I get there

I see a lot of potential and so many catchy words but mostly I like the message they're spreading it's not about the age.

Right now I'm looking into engineering and physics /entrepreneurship

Ok see attached for my thoughts, lets get your position and plan set first before response.

This will be fun, the more detail the better -

Questions:

- What is your 5 year plan?
- Where does this take you?
- What do you see on review of the Trndsttrs team?
- What elements align with you now?
- What areas interest you?

Let me know, the end result here will be an email response to Jake of 1-2 quick sentences; it is the prep here though that delivers success!
